DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-16 and 29-30 in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the different groups have common subject matter and a search of one group would not place an undue burden on the Examiner. This is not found persuasive because the subject matter of Group I has other uses (i.e. adhesive, tire tread) and composition claims can be produced by a different process not necessarily the process claims of Group III..
2. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.
3. This application contains claims 17-28 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in Paper No. 10. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-16 and 29-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Throughout the claims the Applicants have noted many property limitations, but the Applicants have not provide the units for the properties (e.g. BET and CDBP).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Art Unit: 1713

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-16 and 29-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Laube et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,627,693 (hereinafter "Laube").

9. Laube discloses compositions comprising an elastomer and carbon black with DBP and N2SA ranges as claimed by the present invention. See Laube, col. 3, line 58 through col. 8, line 10; Table 1 (Run 6). Laube further teaches that additives and other fillers may be added to the invention. See Laube, col. 3, lines 46-48; col. 4, lines 47-51. Although Laube does not disclose all the characteristics and properties of the present claims, based on the substantially identical composition and other properties, the Examiner has a reasonable basis to believe that the properties claimed in the present invention is inherent in the compositions disclosed by Laube. Because the PTO has no means to conduct analytical experiments, the burden of proof is shifted to the Applicants to prove that the properties are not inherent. See In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980); In re Best, 195 USPQ 430 (CCPA 1977); In re Napier, 55 F.3d 610, 613, 34 USPQ2d 1782, 1784 (Fed. Cir. 1995).

10. The claiming of a new use, new function or unknown property, which is inherently present in the prior art does not necessary make the claim patentable. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1254, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). However, the fact that a certain result or characteristic may occur or be present in the prior art is not sufficient to establish the inherency of that result or characteristic. See In re Rijckaert, 9 F.3d. 1531, 1534, 28 USPQ2d 1955, 1957 (Fed. Cir. 1993) (reversed rejection because inherency was based on what would result due to optimization of conditions, not what was necessary due to optimization of conditions, not what was necessarily present in the prior art). "To establish inherency, the extrinsic evidence must make clear that the missing descriptive matter is necessarily present in the thing describe in the reference, and that it would be so recognized by persons of ordinary skill.

Inherency, however, may not be established by probabilities or possibilities. The mere fact that a certain thing may result from a given set of circumstances is not sufficient.'" See In re Robertson, 169 F.3d 743, 745, 49 USPQ2d 1949, 1950-51. "In relying upon the theory of inherency, the examiner must provide a basis in fact and/or technical reasoning to reasonably support the determination that the allegedly inherent characteristic necessarily flows from the teachings of the applied prior art." Ex parte Levy, 17 USPQ2d 1461, 1464 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1990).

11. Even if the disclosure of Laube does not satisfy the requirements of 35 USC 102(e), it still would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to arrive at the claimed compositions, because it appears that the claimed composition are within the generic disclosure of Laube and a person of ordinary skill in the art would have expected all embodiment of Laube to have similar properties. Applicant has not demonstrated that the differences, if any, between the claimed composition and the compositions disclosed by Laube give rise to unexpected results. The evidence presented to rebut the prima facie case of obviousness must be commensurate in scope with the claims to which it pertains. See In re Dill and Scales, 202

USPQ 805 (CCPA 1979).
